DESCRIPTION OF BUILDING PRODUCT

Comfortech® supplies the Armstrong ARMGYP vinyl faced plasterboard ceiling tile. They are intended for use in interior applications as suspended ceilings although may be direct fixed over an existing ceiling.

An Australian company, Armstrong (Australia) Pty Ltd has been in operation for more than 60 years. Armstrong Ceiling Solutions has Green Tag Certification and a Platinum Product Health Declaration in respect of many of its products including those supplied by Comfortech®. The Product Health Declaration is a whole of life assessment.

Suspended ceiling systems and ceilings fixed over existing ceilings don't contribute to the building code compliance of a building but, despite this, Comfortech® have elected to prepare a BPIR declaration.

The ARMGYP ceiling panel may,

- hide building services such as ventilation systems,
- improve the aesthetic of the space by reducing the ceiling height or by disguising an existing ceiling.

When tested by BRANZ, the ARMGYP ceiling tiles achieved material group number 1S.

The tiles are installed with 24 mm PeakForm grid systems.

Comfortech supplies panel size of 1200 x 600 x 10 mm.

The panels are coloured bright white which has a high light reflectance. The vinyl facing provides a washable face.

CONTRIBUTION TO BUILDING WORK CODE OBLIGATIONS

Armstrong ARMGYP vinyl faced plasterboard ceiling tiles do not contribute to the code compliance of the building work. However, when suspended, they must be installed in accordance with AS/NZS 2785:2020 Suspended Ceilings – Design and Installation.
